SIRENA YACHTS

A Private Sanctuary
upon the Sea,
A NEW CHAPTER.

Redefining Expectations

There comes a moment when ambition transcends convention—when the sea is no longer merely a backdrop, but an invitation to dream anew.

With the introduction of the Sirena Superyachts range, Sirena Yachts enters a bold new era. Building upon two decades of Turkish shipbuilding heritage, uncompromising engineering, and global acclaim, the 42M represents a decisive step forward. She is not simply another superyacht in the 40-to-50-meter class; she is a reinterpretation of how life on the water should feel.

Created for a new generation of discerning owners who value informality over rigid tradition, the 42M distills space, light, and freedom into a single, cohesive architectural masterpiece. A new chapter begins—where your imagination sets the horizon, and our craftsmanship brings it to life.

THE VISION

The vision behind the Sirena 42M was born from a simple yet profound question:
How can a superyacht foster genuine connection?

Designed primarily for owners who seek to share the ocean with family and close friends, the 42M discards the formal, underutilized spaces of traditional yachting. In their place, she offers an effortless, resort-like atmosphere where boundaries between decks, saloons, and sea naturally dissolve.

Informal Elegance, Unbound Living.

Here, contemporary lines meet timeless proportions. The interior is conceived not as a collection of isolated rooms, but as a seamless extension of the sweeping decks outside. Framed by expansive, mullion-free horizontal windows, the landscape flows uninterrupted into every corner of the vessel. The 42M is an invitation to inhabit the ocean on your own terms.

Conceived by Italian designer Luca Vallebona, the exterior designer of the 42M strikes a masterful balance between athletic vigor and enduring elegance. While honoring the recognizable, confident DNA of the Sirena Yachts lineage, her profile introduces a fresh, sculpted aesthetic that is both modern and timeless.

Sweeping, organic lines eliminate harsh geometry, replacing straight angles with smooth, relaxing flows. Horizontal timber sunshades integrated into the superstructure serve a dual purpose: providing gentle shade to the main deck while acting as a signature design motif for the Sirena Superyachts range.

From her assertive bow to the dramatic, cascading stern, every curve is deliberate, creating an athletic silhouette that commands attention in any anchorage without ever needing to shout.

LUCA VALLEBONA

Exterior Designer

"We blended tradition, landscape, and lifestyle to bring charm and relaxation to the Sirena 42M — a design that reflects our young energy."

Life on board the 42M revolves around an extraordinary connection to the water. From the deep aft bathing platform to the main deck saloon, Luca Vallebona has crafted a true "architectural promenade"—a continuous, open-air journey designed for effortless relaxation.

At the stern, a state-of-the-art pool deck replaces rigid ocean furniture with a smooth, integrated lounge experience. With the side balconies deployed, the beach club expands from approximately 61 to 71 square metres. Moving just a few steps forward and slightly above, the protected cockpit opens to an alfresco bar and breakfast lounge framed by timber louvers—the perfect setting for morning coffee or casual gatherings.

Whether sunbathing on the water's edge, dining under the shade, or retreating to the upper deck, the 42M provides a rich tapestry of interconnected spaces for every mood of the day.

Refined Warmth by HOTLAB

Interior Stylist

Step inside, and the Milanese interior studio HOTLAB has created an atmosphere of understated warmth and contemporary sophistication. Conceived as a natural continuation of the exterior decks, the interior language avoids ostentation in favor of tactile richness and spatial quality.

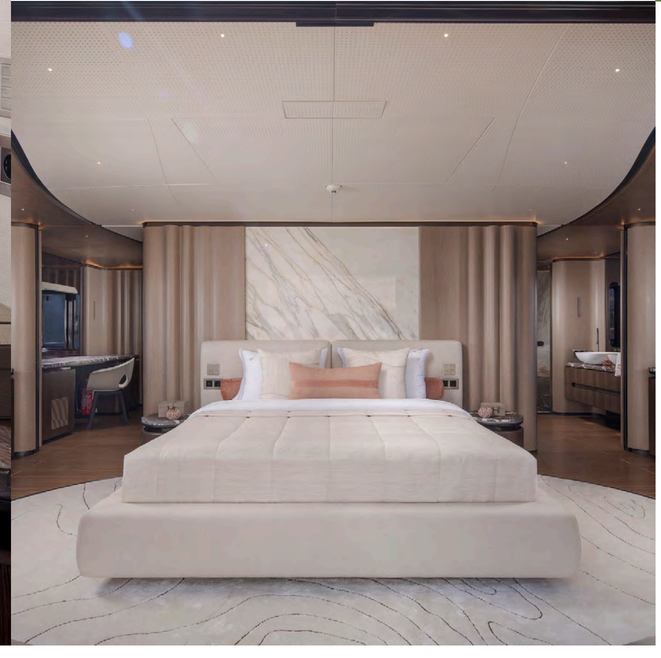

In the main deck saloon and dining area, floor-to-ceiling glass paneling erases the boundary between indoors and outdoors. Organic geometries, soft architectural curves, and a subtle, nature-inspired material palette define the room. Light-toned woods, brushed metals, and bespoke textiles invite touch, while loose, residential-style furniture enhances the feeling of an airy, private seaside residence.

OWNER'S WORLD

An Uninterrupted Private Realm

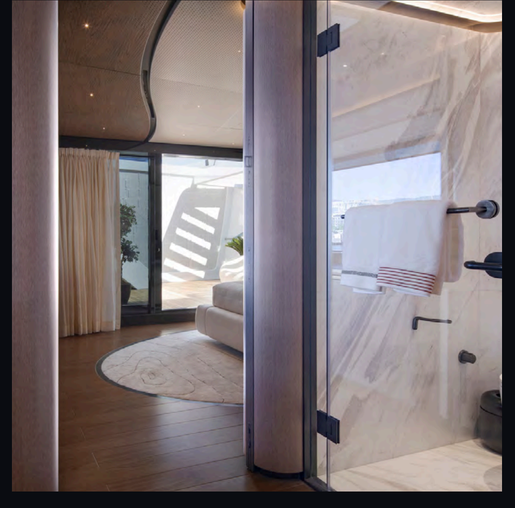

The Owner's Suite on the Sirena 42M is a masterclass in spatial intelligence and privacy. Positioned closer to midship than standard layouts, the suite benefits naturally from reduced pitch at sea, contributing to exceptional comfort while underway.

Opening the full-height sliding glass doors transforms the master cabin and the forward patio into one singular, sprawling suite, blurring all distinction between inside and out. The owner can step directly from the bedroom into their private courtyard, or ascend the dedicated curved staircase straight to the upper deck foredeck sunpad.

THE OWNER'S PATIO

A Secret Garden at Sea

The piece de résistance of the Sirena 42M is her forward patio—a groundbreaking architectural feature hidden within the contours of the main deck hull.

By shifting the master suite slightly further aft than conventional layouts dictate, a private, open-air atrium emerges directly in front of the owner's stateroom. Protected yet flooded with natural light and night sky, this unexpected sanctuary reimagines what was once a technical mooring zone into a poetic private courtyard.

A gently curved, elegant staircase leads up to the upper deck, while a custom pergola and a suspended hanging chair invite quiet moments of reflection. The forward bulkhead pays homage to the legendary Milanese architect Giò Ponti, featuring 3D geometric ceramic tiles that catch shifting light and shadow throughout the day. Set against lush potted greenery, the bulkhead transforms into a living theatrical backdrop — a secret, Mediterranean garden floating upon the sea.

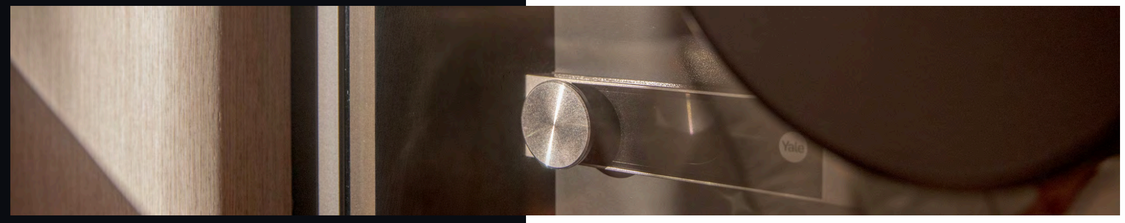

Tailored Comfort
& Fluid Hospitality

VIP Cabin

Guest accommodations on the lower deck are designed to offer the sanctuary and quiet comfort of a boutique retreat. Broad hull windows bring the motion and light of the sea directly into each stateroom, creating bright, uplifting spaces for rest.

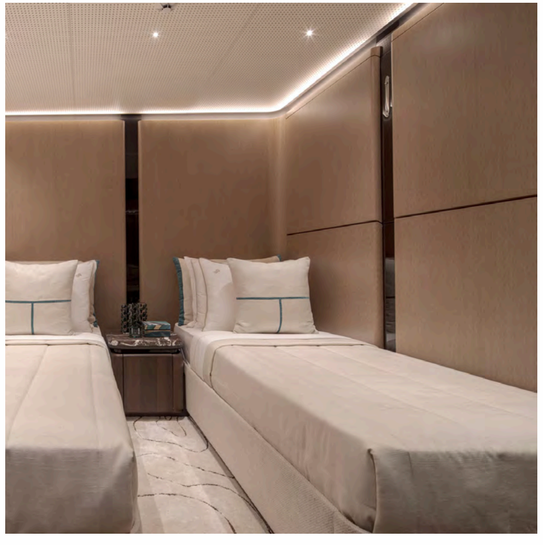

Guest Cabins

Every guest cabin features its own en-suite bathroom, generous storage, and fine acoustic insulation to ensure complete solitude.

FROM VISION TO REALITY

Translating such intricate architecture into an ocean-going superyacht requires an unwavering commitment to industrial craftsmanship. At Sirena's state-of-the-art shipyard on the Sea of Marmara, the 42M takes shape through the precision of steel hull construction and lightweight aluminium superstructure fabrication.

Engineering

Here, traditional metalworking and naval welding meet cutting-edge outfitting technology. Master artisans, engineers, and shipwrights work in harmony to ensure that every structural bulkhead, custom fixture, and polished edge meets the rigorous standards of global superyachting. It is a process where raw metal is transformed into living art.

VAN OOSSANEN

Naval Architect

"The joint effort with Luca Vallebona on pairing his fresh contemporary styling concepts with our performance-focussed hull design is a fine example of what can be achieved when working together with a common goal."

VAN OOSSANEN NAVAL ARCHITECTS

Beneath her elegant exterior lies a hull engineered for exceptional efficiency, stability, and range. Developed by world-renowned naval architect Van Oossanen, the hull geometry of the 42M ensures a smooth, sea-kindly ride across a wide variety of sea conditions.

Advanced Computational Fluid Dynamics (CFD) and rigorous hydrodynamics research result in a fast-displacement hull capable of long-range cruising with significantly reduced fuel consumption.

A dedicated side-loading tender garage aft accommodates a tender of up to 5.65 metres, while keeping the guest living areas uncluttered.

*The vessel's speed and range capabilities rely on the conditions outlined in Technical Specification 104. Stability and Performance.

All mentioned values may change after final design and engineering approval.

*NOTE: All performance specified in the table above are design data and applies to a standard configuration boat (standard equipment installed as per this standard list) with clean keel, propellers, and rudders. Furthermore, the performance levels indicated above have been defined under good sea and wind conditions (Beaufort Scale level 1, Douglas Scale level 1, ambient T < 25° , seawater T =15° , atmospheric P = 103250 Pa) with 2 people on board, 25% fuel, and fresh, grey and black water tanks empty. Different or harsher sea conditions and additional selected optional equipment may affect the performance.
